Boulder Lake will be fun and exciting. This will be my first backpacking trip ever. It sounds like Stanley Lake and several other outings that are fun and exciting are coming up too.

Scoutmaster Minute

Dear Troop,

Life is full of wonders and opportunities – however, you have to be open and brave to explore them. I just came back from one of these life adventures-the Yellowstone trip. I saw many of God’s wonders. I did something that was brave – I went on some hikes. Now you ask why this is such a big thing? Well, you all know that I am not in the greatest shape. I had doubts if I could make these hikes, a year ago I would have not. So, when I found out about the hikes, I made up my mind that I would stick it out and do everything in my power to complete the task. At times it was hard, Guess what? I did make it. Now I can make a 10 mile hike and the smaller ones will be much easier. I now look forward to going on hikes, because I know that I can make it. It might be hard at times, but I can do it.

Here is a challenge to you – please do not be hesitant to try new things – be brave and daring. If I can do it ,you can too, you will not be let down.
